'WICKED' PAIR MURDERED VULNERABLE MAN IN HIS OWN HOME

Deborah Andrews.

William Vaill.

Report by Henry James

'Targeted' victim was subjected to 'vicious and prolonged attack causing horrific injuries'

A MAN and woman from Skelmersdale are facing "significant" jail sentences for the murder of a vulnerable man in his own home in the town.

Following a trial at Preston Crown Court on Friday (February 1), Deborah Andrews, 44, of Elmstead, was convicted of murdering Eamon Brady in July last year.

William Vaill, 37, of Evington, had pleaded guilty to the same offence last month.

Fire fighters from Lancashire Fire and Rescue services attended an address in Elmridge on Saturday, July 21, 2018 after receiving reports of a fire at around 7.30am.

Inside the property they found the 44-year-old victim who had suffered a number of injuries to his head and torso. A quilt had been placed on the lower part of his body and set alight.

He was pronounced dead at the scene and detectives from Lancashire Police launched a murder investigation.

Initial inquiries revealed Mr Brady had been with Vaill and Andrews the previous day, (Friday, July 20) and CCTV footage showed the pair leaving his home carrying two bags at around 4.50am on the Saturday.

Officers traced the pair to a nearby address where it was revealed they had sold several items belonging to Mr Brady, including a games console and sound system.

Further items belonging to Mr Brady were also found at the property and Vaill and Andrews were arrested and charged by police.

A post-mortem examination later revealed the victim had suffered multiple head injuries, a number of stab wounds to his upper body and neck, and significant injuries to his lower body from the fire.

Both defendants initially pleaded not guilty but Vaill later changed his plea and also admitted a charge of arson with intent.

Andrews was sent for trial and convicted of murder and arson with intent.

Both will be sentenced on Friday, February 15.

Following the trial Detective Inspector Lukmaan Mulla, of Lancashire Police, said: "Vaill and Andrews are clearly extremely dangerous offenders and we welcome today's decision at court.

"The pair targeted Mr Brady, knowing he was vulnerable. While a clear motive for the murder has never been established, what is clear is that they launched a vicious and prolonged attack causing numerous, horrific injuries.

"Mr Brady's injuries were among the worst I have seen in my police career. My thoughts remain with his family and friends.

"Vaill and Andrews' actions were wicked, cruel and savage. Both now face a significant period of time in prison."

Council to review borough's polling districts and venues

Members of the public and all interested parties are invited to provide feedback

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancs Council is reviewing all polling districts and polling places across the borough.

Residents, other interested persons and organisations are invited to give feedback on any aspect of polling districts and polling places currently used for all elections, the proposed alternatives and also suggest additional alternatives if appropriate.

Local political parties, community groups, MPs and councillors will also be consulted.

The area covered by the review is the West Lancashire parliamentary constituency and those parts of the South Ribble parliamentary constituency that are within the borough council's area.

Access arrangements for premises or facilities will form part of the review.

The council is carrying out the review to ensure they are suitable and accessible for as many voters as possible within West Lancs. Electors are encouraged to share their views and the council would welcome comments from any person or body with expertise in access for people with disabilities.

Kim Webber, Electoral Registration Officer for West Lancashire.

The public consultation began on Friday (February 1) and runs until Friday, May 24. Submissions to the consultation will form part of the final proposals for future provision of polling districts and places.

How to give your views:

•Visit the council's website www.westlancs.gov.uk/pollreview and complete the survey.

•Write to: Tom Lynan, Electoral & Administration Services Manager, West Lancashire Borough Council, 52 Derby Street, Ormskirk, L39 2DF.

•Email: tom.lynan@westlancs.gov.uk.

Kim Webber, Electoral Registration Officer for West Lancashire, said: "We would encourage residents who have comments to make to contact us and let us know their views."

Information on the current polling places and plans of individual polling districts, along with the initial proposals and comments from the Electoral Registration Officer, can be viewed at the Council Offices, 52 Derby Street Ormskirk or at www.westlancs.gov.uk/pollreview.

Family's anguish as heartless vandals target loved one's final resting place

Report by Henry James

A FAMILY grieving the loss of a loved one have suffered more heartache as thieves have caused damage and stolen items from her graveside at St Thomas The Martyr Church in Up Holland.

Since the woman's funeral in July last year members of the family have visited the grave on a daily basis, placing floral tributes along with personal items and wind chimes as a mark of love and respect.

But over the last five months the grave has been targeted by heartless vandals in a series of attacks.

In the first incident last August flowers were ripped out of pots by the graveside, solar lights were smashed and shepherd's crooks damaged.

Since then a number of other incidents have taken place including the theft of solar lights.

A family member, who has asked not to be named, told the Champion: "Since our sad loss we have visited the grave every day to leave various tributes.

"The attacks started in August, not long after the funeral, and it was heartbreaking for the family as we were still grieving for the loss of a loved one.

"As well as the daily visits the family have placed tributes on special occasions such as birthdays and at Christmas.

"Over the last two months we have had a number of solar lights stolen. We have replaced these only to have the replacements taken as well with the latest theft happening just last week some time between the afternoon of Thursday, January 31 and the following day, Friday, February 1.

St Thomas The Martyr Church in Up Holland.

"Officials at the church and the local police seem to be of the opinion that there is little that can be done but you have to ask yourself what is in the minds of people who vandalise and steal from graves?

"I cannot forgive the actions of these persons who seem to be able to cause so much distress to the families of loved ones buried in the church grounds."

A spokesperson for Lancashire Police said: "We received two reports of damage to a grave located in the grounds of the church of St Thomas the Martyr in Up Holland - one on August 20, 2018 and one on February 2, 2019.

"We would like to reassure the public that crimes of this nature are taken very seriously and we have increased patrols in the area as a result of these reports. We are also planning to revisit the person who initially contacted us about these incidents, and if they report any further incidents these will be recorded and investigated. If any suspects are identified they will be dealt with robustly.

"Anybody with information about these incidents is asked to contact us on 101, quoting log number 1532 of August 20th 2018 or 350 of February 2nd 2019."

A spokesperson from the Diocese of Liverpool commented: "We're really sorry to hear of the damage and theft from the graveyard of St Thomas the Martyr, Up Holland.

"A graveyard is a way that people are able to remember their loved ones. We understand the importance for people to be able to do this freely, so by their very nature graveyards are very difficult to keep secure.

"We can only imagine the distress the family must feel about the damage to the grave and the loss of the tributes which have such a great emotional meaning.

"We appeal to everyone in the area to please remain vigilant and to get in touch with the police to help prevent such incidents happening to anyone else."

Carl Roscoe, headteacher of St Thomas The Martyr Primary School, with deputy, Suzanne Christy and the head boys and girls.

Schools' Red Letter day

TWO local primary schools have received letters from the Department for Education for pupils' performances at Key Stage 2 assessments.

The official acknowledgements were sent to Delph Side Community Primary in Eskdale, Skelmersdale and St Thomas The Martyr Primary, Up Holland.

At St Thomas The Martyr results showed progress scores in Key Stage 2 assessments of 4.6, 3.3 and 3.5 in English reading, writing and mathematics respectively.

These illustrate that in terms of the progress their pupils make between Key Stage 1 and the end of Key Stage 2 the school is among the top 3% of schools in England.

Meanwhile 100% of pupils at Delph Side Primary reached or exceeded the expected standards in mathematics at the end of Key Stage 2. This means that for achievement in mathematics, the school is in the top 1% of primary schools in England.

Carl Roscoe, headteacher at St Thomas The Martyr, said: "We are very proud of the achievements of all our children who put in 100% at all times. And thanks go to our very dedicated staff, in particular the Year 6 teachers, Mrs Aydin and Mrs Carroll.

"I am very grateful to work in a school with supportive families, governors, church clergy and staff who all work very hard so our children can be the best they can be."

Liz Ormerod, headteacher at Delph Side Primary, commented: "This is such a wonderful recognition of the strength of our team and the hard work and dedication that they show each and every day for our children.

"This is a community success and our Tanhouse families should be proud of their children's achievements - we certainly are! Our challenge now is to enjoy this wonderful moment, embrace our ambition to maintain such standards and help our next cohort of Delph Side stars to evolve!"

More arrests in bid to tackle knife crime

IT has been another busy week for Target Team officers engaged on Operation Fleece, set up to target knife crime in Skelmersdale.

While conducting patrols on the High Street in Old Skelmersdale, Target Team officers stop-searched and subsequently arrested two males, aged 27 and 21, on suspicion of burglary and of weapons and drugs offences.

The pair, who can't be named for legal reasons, have been released under investigation.

Meanwhile Target Team officers in Old Skelmersdale also stop-searched and subsequently arrested two males, aged 38 and 26, on Sherrat Street, on suspicion of being concerned in supplying Class A drugs.

The men, one from Skelmersdale and one from Liverpool, were detained in custody overnight while searches were conducted at their home addresses. They have also been released under investigation.

Police have also reported several people for theft and minor drugs offences as the result of proactive stop checks.

Writing on their social media page, a spokesperson for Skelmersdale Police stated: "The team will continue its work in Skelmersdale specifically targeting knife crime. We will conduct patrols in the coming weeks and anyone found in possession of offensive weapons will be dealt with accordingly."

The police rely on the public's assistance and intelligence to help combat crime and encourage people to call 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111 to report any concerns.

Civic duo at community event

THE Mayor and Deputy Mayor of West Lancs, Councillor Noel Delaney and Councillor Gaynar Owen, attended a Challenge January Event (above) organised by BBC Radio Lancashire and hosted by Divine Days Community Arts CIC at the Greenhill Community Hub in Skelmersdale.

The mayor also presented an award to the group's oldest volunteer, 90-year-old Chas Addie for his work with Community Connections.

Borough could benefit if county is successful in City Of Culture bid!

ORMSKIRK and Skelmersdale could benefit if Lancashire county is successful in a bid to be named City of Culture 2025!

Marketing Lancashire and the Lancashire Enterprise Partnership took the decision to bid as a county after an analysis of the options in the competition, which is run by the Department of Culture Media and Sport.

The Department of Culture Media and Sport says it has a flexible approach to the term 'city' and will accept bids from places as long as they meet the wider criteria.

Tony Attard, High Sheriff and chair of Marketing Lancashire, said: "Culture is a super accelerator for urban regeneration and the benefits of bidding for City of Culture are many. The prize for Lancashire would be substantial, which is why I am advocating that we bid for UK City of Culture in 2025."

Welcome

A spokesman for West Lancs Council commented: "This seems to be a very positive suggestion for the county as a whole. The council looks forward to receiving further details about the proposed bid and would welcome discussions on how it could support the proposal.

"The borough already has a range of exciting cultural events and we need to understand how these could link with any cultural programme associated with a bid for UK City of Culture."

Bus re-routed to serve village during roadworks

Report by Kenny Parker

LANCASHIRE County Council has stepped in to make sure part of Aughton still has access to public transport while the usual bus service to the village is diverted due to roadworks.

From Monday (February 4) the county council-funded Ormksirk circular service No. 5 will be temporarily re-routed to also serve the Aughton/Holt Green area.

This area is usually served by the No. 310 operated by Arriva, but this service is currently not taking its normal route through Aughton due to major gas replacement works being carried out along the A59 and Winifred Lane.

County Councillor Keith Iddon, Lancashire's cabinet member for highways and transport, said: "We're aware that people in part of Aughton have been affected by their normal bus service being diverted due to the gas replacement work taking place on the A59. This is a commercial bus service over which the county council has no control, however we are temporarily diverting our Ormskirk service No. 5 to serve the area that currently has no bus service.

Works on Winifred Lane have caused Arriva's 310 service to be diverted.

"Our No. 5 service doesn't operate as frequently or provide a direct link to Liverpool, but this will ensure that people who rely on public transport can still access local services."

The roadworks are scheduled to continue until the end of April, however it is expected that access to Winifred Lane will be restored in the first week in March, allowing normal services to resume.

Passenger information notices have been displayed at affected bus stops on Springfield Road, Smithy Lane and Bold Lane. People can also find the temporarily revised timetable by searching Ormskirk Town Service at www.prestonbus.co.uk.

West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper had written to Arriva and Lancashire County Council, saying that she had been inundated with correspondence from constituents expressing their concerns over the 310 bus service re-routing.

As was also reported in the Champion, she said passengers, including pensioners who need to go shopping, were having to walk longer distances to and from bus stops and also having to cross the A59 dual carriage way as a result of the diversion.

Arriva said it had made some changes to the diverted route. A spokesperson said: "We take feedback from our customers very seriously and in response to recent comments from passengers, changes were made to the original diverted 310 route."

A notice issued by the company states that the northbound 310 service to Skelmersdale will not serve Springfield Road, Smithy Lane, Bold Lane, and Winifred Lane, instead operating via Northway (A59).

The southbound service to Liverpool will operate via St Michael's Road and Springfield Road using a temporary stop opposite the Miller and Carter Steakhouse, and then continue onto Northway.

Nursery earns 'outstanding' rating from Ofsted inspectors

Staff and youngsters at Duckling Days Nursery celebrating their 'outstanding' Ofsted report.

STAFF at a Skelmersdale nursery are celebrating after being rated 'outstanding' by the government watchdog on their second anniversary.

Ofested inspectors who visited the Duckling Day Nursery in Daniels Lane, Tawd Bridge on Wednesday, January 9 were impressed on a number of fronts.

The effectiveness of leadership and management; the quality of teaching, learning and assessment; the personal development, behaviour and welfare; and the outcomes for children were all rated as outstanding.

Manager of the centre, Janet Doyle, was noted for being "exceptionally dedicated and skilled" and for sharing her vision with the staff team. And the report added: "Together, in consultation with parents and children, they regularly use a variety of ways in which to carefully evaluate the quality of the nursery and precisely target future improvements. All staff are deeply committed to providing children and their families with early years experiences of the highest quality."

It was also noted that the quality of teaching is "outstanding" and that staff have an "excellent understanding of the unique ways in which individual children learn." The report went onto say: "They use their regular, robust and precise assessments, along with their deep knowledge of children's interests, to plan a wide range of highly stimulating and challenging experiences that superbly motivate children in their learning."

It was also pointed out that, "the management team and staff carefully monitor the progress that individual and groups of children make. They successfully identify any developing gaps in children's learning and take swift and decisive action to ensure that all children receive the exact support they need to make excellent progress from the time they start at nursery."

Inspectors also praised, "the bespoke settling-in arrangements and robust partnership working with parents ensures that children settle quickly and are ready to learn from the outset."

Management and staff at the nursery were understandably delighted by the findings. Janet Doyle commented: "The team are exceptionally dedicated, passionate and committed to providing children and their families with the very best early years provision."

Councillor says transport body's Investment Programme shows that plans for town's rail station are still on track

Report by Henry James

LANCASHIRE County Council Labour group say that plans for a Skelmersdale railway station remain on track according to the most recent Investment Programme published by statutory sub-national transport body, Transport for the North (TfN).

TfN's Strategic Transport Plan sets out a vision for how transport can support "transformational, inclusive growth" in the North of England through to 2050.

Its Investment Programme comprises TfN's advice to the Government on the long-term, "multimodal priorities for enhanced pan-Northern connectivity".

The new rail link and town-centre station connecting Skelmersdale to Liverpool and Manchester, as well as the national rail network, is proposed by Lancashire, Liverpool City Region and Greater Manchester.

TfN's evidence demonstrates that the Skelmersdale station could and should have a start made on the delivery before 2027. It is included in the early phases of the Northern Powerhouse Rail programme.

2027 has been chosen as an initial point within the Investment Programme to reflect when HS2 is due to be completed to Crewe and when HS2 services will commence running to stations across the North West. The Skelmersdale link will be at Wigan.

Deputy leader of the Labour group and Skelmersdale East County Councillor John Fillis, said: "We began developing this project through the West Lancashire Highways and Transport Master Plan, produced by Lancashire County Council in 2014. Since then it has gained tremendous support from local residents and the wider community of West Lancashire. All of whom recognise the enormous economic and environmental benefits that having a direct link into two great cities, Liverpool and Manchester, will bring within West Lancashire.

Councillor Fillis at the proposed station site of the former Glenburn Sports College.

"The development of Skelmersdale train station should not be confused with the West Lancashire Local Plan Review, which is now being considered by the borough council. The Skelmersdale station project is there on its own merits and is making steady progress.

"This has been a long time coming but we have had to gain support from across the North - which we have done - and provide the Government with enough evidence to fund the project, which we are doing. I would like to thank local people for their support and patience in keeping Skelmersdale on track."

Now trader speaks up in favour of construction work at Concourse

FOLLOWING last week's report in the Champion in which a trader based in the Concourse shopping centre complained that noisy construction work was affecting his customers and staff, another shop owner at the centre has contacted us to say he and others welcome any work which will help to improve footfall.

The second trader, who also preferred to remain anonymous, contacted us by email and wrote: "We just want to say, as fellow traders in the centre, that we have not complained or signed any petition to stop any work happening in trading hours.

"In fact, we encourage work being done as this will mean a quicker completion time and better footfall in the centre.

Construction work at the Concourse has met with mixed reactions from traders at the shopping centre.

"We have not experienced any dust or loud noise while work has begun, but this is the type of thing is what you expect when building work occurs.

"We have moaned for so long that the centre has not started work on the refurb but when work starts, we have people complaining about it.

"Bad publicity could harm the shopping centre and potentially stop other businesses coming into the centre, because if they can only work during the night and maybe receive complaints, it will put new businesses off working here and opening up.

"Having spoken to other traders, we would welcome work continuing during the day as things are completed quicker and help the centre grow.

"We desperately need new businesses in the centre and if this means that there will be noise and mess during work hours then this is what is needed."

Concourse management have apologise for the construction works.

... meanwhile centre management checks outside lighting following safety concerns

MANAGEMENT at the Concourse say they have checked the lighting levels outside the rear of the shopping centre after safety concerns were raised.

A female resident contacted the Champion to say she feared the poor lighting in the pedestrianised area between the Nye Bevan pool and the Concourse put passers-by at risk of being mugged.

She said: "The back of the baths is in blackness. You can't walk in that area without feeling unsafe because it's so dark. You could get mugged, especially during the winter months.

"People are having to use torches to help them get about. There needs to be more lighting there. What do we pay our taxes for?"

A spokesperson for the Concourse responded: "Regular maintenance checks are undertaken to ensure our outside lights are in working order.

"One light was found not to be working and we are repairing that. A further investigation is to be carried out to check the lighting levels in that area of the centre."

A spokesman for Lancashire County Council, which is the highways authority, said: "Our street lighting is designed to illuminate the road and the footway on the roads we are responsible for, according to Department for Transport guidelines.

"We are not responsible for the lighting in the immediate vicinity of The Concourse, and haven't made any changes to the street lighting on Northway recently."

Care home praised by independent health watchdog

A CARE home in Skelmersdale has been "highly praised" by an independent health watchdog for the level of its care, its people and its services.

Birch Green Care Home in Ivydale was assessed by representatives from Healthwatch Lancashire to gather the views of residents, staff and relatives on standards of care and services.

The health watchdog gave the home its highest possible overall assessment of green in its 'traffic light' system, that it would recommend the home to a loved one.

In summary, the Healthwatch report concluded: "Representatives considered the environment of the home to be friendly, clean, light, spacious and homely with easy navigation points throughout.

"The interior has recently been refurbished to create a 'hotel comfort' ambience. Residents were consulted on the décor for their home and were shown mood boards to help make decisions. Representatives observed a calm but energetic environment on their visit."

Other positive comments in the report included Birch Green "going the extra mile," with "emphasis on health and wellbeing for staff," and the "extensive information" available.

It added that the home, part of the Springhill Care Group, seeks to invest in its staff and create community links.

The report follows a recent 'good' rating from industry assessors, the Care Quality Commission whose inspectors made particular note of the commitment of staff.

The Healthwatch report added:

Victoria Sudworth, general manager at Birch Green Care Home.

"Representatives evidenced a variety of activities were taking place inside and outside the home with relatives having the opportunity to join in such as attending for the Sunday roast.

"Residents told us they enjoyed the activities on offer. Residents and relatives, we spoke to considered Birch Green Care Home to be a good place to live with good caring staff, good food and good activities."

General manager at Birch Green, Vicky Sudworth, said: "Our staff are committed to providing the very best levels of care and this kind of positive feedback is thanks to their hard work. We are only too pleased to welcome any independent assessment and to understand how we might improve even further."

Healthwatch Lancashire gathers the views of service users, especially those that are hard to reach and seldom heard, to give them the opportunity to express how they feel about a health service.

Men-Aces goalkeeper Haydn wins call-up for Team GB Euros squad

Club officials appealing for sponsorship to help with funding for equipment and trip to tournament in Switzerland

Report by Henry James

SKEM Men-Aces goalkeeper Haydn Pulford has been selected for the second year running for the 15-man Team GB squad to travel to Switzerland for the Euros this summer.

And club officials are hoping to attract sponsorship to help with funding for the trip.

A total of six players from the local disability football team attended the trials in Yorkshire, but although all did the club proud Haydn was the only one to get the nod.

He will now attend training camps in Bridgend, Wales before flying off to Geneva in June.

Carl and Mim Eaton from Skelmersdale Men-Aces said: "This is the second year running that Haydn has been picked and it's not surprising as he pulled off some spectacular saves and commanded the field from the back.

"Although we are obviously very pleased for Haydn we are gutted for the other lads who did not make it. Every one of them were a credit not only to themselves but to the club and to Skelmersdale.

"We received a number of positive comments while we were at the event. The players had been really excited on the road to Yorkshire and when arrived at the venue we were immediately surrounded by lads from all corners of the UK with our lads looking out for familiar faces.

Haydn celebrates his call-up with Mim and Carl Eaton.

"During the trials the lads were put through rigorous skill factors under the watchful eye of Team GB coaches and performed well."

The club will be funding Haydn to attend the Euros but are looking for sponsorship to help with the cost of goalie gloves and boots.

Carl and Mim commented: "To receive sponsorship would mean so much to us."

Anyone who can help can contact Carl on 07506458716.

Councillor calls for urgent repairs to village road junction

Report by Henry James

A BOROUGH councillor is calling for urgent action at a road junction in West Lancs which he says is "an accident waiting to happen".

Up Holland Labour representative, Councillor John Bullock, accused Lancashire County Council of failing to fulfil promises to address the state of the road at the junction of Mill Lane and Mayfield Road in the village.

He said that Mill Lane is not just an access road to people's homes but is also a popular through way to Parbold and for connection to leisure activities on Beacon Hill and is used by cyclist groups and walkers, as well as motorists.

Claiming that the state of the junction has been of concern to residents and local councillors for some time, he said that the Conservative administration at the county council had made numerous promises about work to repair potholes, but so far had failed to deliver any long-term solution.

He said: "All that seems to happen is a merry-go-round, with patch upon patch being laid then cracking up within a few months. This is not dealing with the underlying problem of water erosion.

"There are now two streams of water coming up through the road surface and running from the junction down the hill. There are potholes aplenty as the temporary patching is failing and the gully is fully blocked with debris from the road.

Councillor John Bullock (right) and County Councillor John Fillis at the junction on Mill Lane.

"This is an accident waiting to happen. The county council have been told about this problem yet they are failing to respond to concerns about the danger.

"The road needs stripping back and the underground water flow stopped or culverted, then the whole junction needs to be relaid. With another winter upon us the surface destruction will be accelerated. We have demanded that the county council takes urgent action before someone is hurt. The Conservative administration claim they have millions of pounds extra to spend on road repairs but they are not spending it in West Lancashire.

"The current patch policy has failed and is a totally false economy. The work will have to be done at some point and putting it off will only cost local people more money through their council tax. The Conservatives are asking people to pay more for less.

"Local people are constantly being ignored by this Conservative administration at county hall. We would ask local people to help us to help them by reporting potholes and blocked gullies through, highways@lancashire.gov.uk, tel. 0300 123 6701 and copy me in so I can follow it up."

A spokesman for Lancashire County Council responded: "We're aware that the road surface at this location is in poor condition, and carried out some temporary repairs for safety.

"We're also aware from previous incidents that the water on the road is likely to be due to a problem with the highway drainage and we have also programmed for the drains to be jetted and cleared, which we hope will resolve the issue.

"We are considering work to resurface part of Mill Lane from Ormskirk Road to Harts Lane, which covers this area, as part of next year's maintenance programme. However, this is subject to approval as part of next year's budget."

Building contractors shortlisted in three categories of county business awards

A SKELMERSDALE-based building contractors has been shortlisted in three categories of a prestigious county-wide business awards scheme.

UPS Building and Maintenance of Gratton Place, East Gillibrands has been nominated in the Construction Business Award, Customer Service Award and Growing Business Award categories of the Red Rose awards 2019.

Organised by Lancashire Business View magazine, the awards which were launched in 2011, aim to recognise and celebrate businesses in the county.

Hundreds of nominations have been whittled down to just six finalists in each of 25 categories, ranging from new business of the year to the international achievement award.

A total of more than 70 respected judges, in panels of four or five, will have the final say with the winners names kept under wraps until the prizegiving extravaganza at Blackpool's Winter Gardens on Thursday, March 14.

Report by Henry James

The black-tie event, featuring locally-sourced food and entertainment, will see the winners in each category take to the stage to collect their trophies before an audience of more than 1,100.

Publisher of Lancashire Business View, Richard Slater, said that this year's event had been refreshed to give more organisations a fair chance of competing.

Quality

He said: "We have fettled the format ever so slightly for 2019.

"We have limited the number of categories each business can enter to three.

"The result has been that some of the smaller or lesser known companies have had a better chance to make the final shortlist, which has given us a better opportunity to promote the county's diversity.

"The volume and quality of entries has remained as high as ever and we now move on to the presentation part of the process, before our panels of highly qualified judges face the difficult task of selecting the winners."

Pupils of Our Lady Queen of Peace College in rehearsal for their performance of Annie.

College's budding performers all set to take centre stage

BUDDING thespians at Our Lady Queen of Peace College have been busy rehearsing for their upcoming performance of Annie the Musical.

Pupils ranging from Years 7 to 11 at the school in Glenburn Road, Skelmersdale are set to put on the classic story of the eponymous red-haired orphan (played by Erin Murphy) who is left in the care of the villainous Miss Hannigan (Imogen Nester) before eentually finding happiness with billionaire business man Mr Warbucks and his charming secretary Grace Farrell (brought to life by Katie Douglas and Emily Perry).

The youngsters have been busy rehearsing over the Christmas and New Year period, as they tackle the added challenge of performing with the school's live band - a 'first' for the performing arts department.

Billed as 'full of laughter, dazzling chorus numbers and heart-warming scenes' this is a family show meriting a full audience.

Performing arts teaching staff have commented on the desire the pupils have to express themselves through performance and they hope to continue to show the local area what talent there is in the town and hopefully get more and more youngsters involved.

The show is set to run Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, March 6 to 8, at 7pm.

CCG announces specialist support service for chronic back pain sufferers

Two-year pilot scheme to be launched in April

Report by Henry James

PATIENTS living with chronic pain will be able to get support from a new specialist service developed by the NHS in West Lancashire.

The iHELP Pain Management service, has been designed by local clinicians and patients and following a formal procurement process, the new provider InHealth will begin providing the two-year pilot service in April.

At present there is no specialist community-based chronic pain service in West Lancashire with patients being managed between GPs and hospitals. The new service will offer specialist care and introduce a holistic approach to a patient's individual needs by examining the full picture, including, for example physical activity, nutrition and psychological needs.

Chronic pain is a pain that persists beyond the point at which healing would be expected (three to six months).

Dr Vik Mittal.

Mike Maguire, chief officer of NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG), said: "With the help of patients who kindly took the time to share their views with us and our local clinicians and other partners, we have achieved what we set out to do and can now start offering this service from the spring.

"The new iHELP service, which will be a single point of referral, will be fine-tuned to ensure patients are appropriately managed and importantly that their individual needs are catered for."

Innovative

Dr Vik Mittal, local GP and board member of NHS West Lancashire CCG, added: "Living with chronic pain is not pleasant for anyone, which is why it's so important we have the right services in place that are accessible for everyone.

"GPs have been trying to manage these patients in primary care with some referrals to hospital but without the availability of any holistic support.

"This innovative specialist service will support those patients addressing their specific individual needs."

Once the service is launched, the CCG would like to hear what patients think and how their experiences have been. For more information contact the CCG on 01695 588 203 or wlccg.myview@nhs.net.

A Wondrous Winter at Martin Mere

With winter in full swing, our reserve is a real treasure trove of wildlife. There are currently around 10,000 wintering wildfowl on and around the mere, ranging from wigeon and teal to whooper swans and greylag geese. Over the past couple of weeks, there have also been a number of sightings of two different species of owls which have been putting on spectacular hunting shows for visitors.

From our Ron Barker Hide, you'll be able to see the majestic barn owl which has been coming out almost daily around 3pm to hunt in the marshes, as captured perfectly by Gary Austin Wildlife Photography on a recent visit. On the other side of the reserve near to our Janet Kear Hide, you'll find a beautiful tawny owl perching on the edge of its box in the trees, it's certainly not camera shy!

With the cold weather comes an influx of hungry birds who struggle to get their own food from the frozen ground. Thankfully, we have a large number of bird feeders around the centre to ensure the birds get the nutrition they need. Our Janet Kear Hide and Kingfisher Hide are great for watching the comings and goings of smaller birds such as chaffinch, goldfinch and blue tit.

One of our biggest draws over the winter are the whooper swans which have migrated over from Iceland. As a charity passionate about conservation, our staff do a lot of work with this species. We have a team of Swan Research Volunteers who keep track of the comings and goings of the swans on the mere.

There are currently a number of swans on the mere that have ring numbers but don't have a name, so during February Half Term were offering visitors the unique opportunity to suggest names. If you're visiting us, all you have to do is spot a swan with a coloured ring on its leg, use the touchscreen in our Discovery Hide to see if it's got a name and if it hasn't, fill out a slip and leave your suggestion in the box. Staff will review and allocate names and a full list will be shared on our Facebook page.

These beautiful swans usually start flying back to Iceland in early March, so make sure you come and see them while you can. Wrap up warm and spend some time in the great outdoors this winter. Find out more and plan your visit at wwt.org.uk/martinmere

Labour county councillors claim changes to adult care will hit the vulnerable

...but Tory leader of authority dismisses statements as 'scaremongering'

Report by Kenny Parker

BUDGET proposals by Lancashire County Council's Conservative-led administration for changes to adult care services will hit the vulnerable and the elderly, say the county's Labour group.

On the agenda for the county council budget meeting on Thursday, February 14 are plans to increase charges to attend day care centres by 15% and cut Home Improvements Services.

There are also proposals to reduce the number of carers from two to one where it is currently specified that people need two members of staff to care for them.

The Home Improvements Services is predominantly for people with long-term health conditions and people with disabilities. It includes maintenance, repair and improvement of properties, housing options advice, 'income maximisation' and access to a reliable handy persons service.

Councilor Jean Parr, Labour's deputy leader for adult social care, said the proposals follow a 14% increase in home care support charges already introduced in 2018, and will force many elderly and vulnerable people out of their homes and result in increased admissions to the NHS and residential homes.

However, the leader of the council County Councilor Geoff Driver accused the opposition party of scaremongering.

Commenting on the increase in charges for day care centres and the withdrawal of the Home Improvement Services, Cllr. Parr said: "It's clear that in order for people to stay at home they will need support. Family and friends can only do so much, they will be forcing vulnerable people to seek help from over-stretched charities and volunteers to maintain their homes."

Councillor Parr.

Councillor Driver.

With regards to the proposed reduction in number of care staff, she accused the Conservatives offering care companies a sweetener by offering to pay more for one-to-one care.

"The council have even claimed that 'people will have a better experience of care because it will be more personalised and dignified', when they cut the number of care staff. There is absolutely no evidence to support such a claim. We have written to the chief executive to provide us with the evidence-based research that cutting care staff benefits those in need. We have had no response.

"The fact is it will cause fear and anxiety, creating tension between the cared for and the carer. Lancashire will also be providing financial incentives for the businesses to cut back on these vital staff with no reference to the preference of those in need.

"One of these proposed actions alone would cause concern but all of them together will have a devastating effect on the elderly and vulnerable people, forcing them out of their homes, into NHS beds and long-stay homes."

In response, Cllr. Driver, said: "Labour really have reached a new low with these scaremongering statements. Unlike when they formed the administration, we will ensure there are sufficient resources to protect the most vulnerable of our fellow citizens and will always provide services in the most sensitive and dignified manner.

"Again, unlike Labour, we are working closely with colleagues in the NHS to ensure that all Lancashire residents, especially the frail and elderly, receive the best possible services, preferably in their own homes.

"It is time for Labour to stop behaving irresponsibly. I await their amendment to our budget proposals with interest."

Champion LETTERS to the Editor

Local Plan isn't about needs of neighbouring authorities but hiring out our green belt land

COUNCILLOR Gail Hodson (Letters, January 23) describes the Local Plan as a 'long-term holistic plan', however a study of the guidelines for drawing up plans, and the input from planners of adjoining authorities, show that it is an example of incompetence and deceit.

This is best summed up by Knowsley planners in their response to the options document, 'with respect to the options for Local Plan periods proposed we note that the second option being considered is a period which runs to 2050.

'This is considered to be an extremely lengthy period well beyond usual Local Plan timescales. Indeed, as this is beyond the period covered by the Strategic Housing and Employment Land Market Assessment (to 2037) WLBC may find it difficult to forecast in spatial terms the need for housing and employment-development up to 2050.

'Given this, we consider that the option period up to 2050 has a high-risk of being considered unacceptable. This is due to the lack of authority regarding needs and demands for new housing and development so far in the future, and the subsequent difficulty in meeting the National Planning Policy Framework's 'exceptional circumstances' test to release land from the green belt.'

Sefton Council give similar warnings in their Preferred Options response. It appears WLBC are the only council in the country that have chosen to interpret the Local Plan guidance in the way they have. I can't find any other Local Plan set to run past 2037.

Despite their supposed need for housing being factored in to the plan, Sefton have no need to consider WLBC land till 2037, obviously they wouldn't know past 2037 for the reasons explained by Knowsley.

We cannot check planner Harrison's 'guesstimate' for Liverpool's requirements as they did not submit a response. However, given the way this plan process has progressed - Mr Hodson getting it through the planning committee by stealth; secrecy regarding minutes of meetings; and the lack of meaningful public consultation in the preparation of the document - we should be very sceptical about the figures that have been used.

This isn't about a pressing need from adjoining authorities for WLBC green belt land, it is a deliberate policy to 'pimp out' our green belt land to our neighbours to further their own master plan.

WLBC residents losing their homes and livelihoods is mere collateral damage.

Far from praising them we should be asking the Local Government Ombudsman to look at their actions.

Eric Lupton, Bickerstaffe.

No benefits for the 'ordinary' residents just more disruption

I READ Councillor Gail Hodson's letter (January 23) hoping to find some positive benefits to the 2050 Local Plan, and again found nothing. No doubt there are some people in power who stand to benefit, but certainly not the ordinary residents.

There is one clear and simple way for residents put a stop to this - through the local council elections on May 2. I for one will put party loyalties aside and use my vote against the majority Labour council in protest at their plan.

Having read many publications about it, there is still no solid evidence at all that there is a genuine need for 16,000 houses and major industrial development. Cllr Hodson states that there is a legal requirement for a local plan, but what about the approved and accepted 2027 Local Plan? Why is ours the only council in the whole country planning as far as 2050?

The reality for residents is we are the ones who will bear the brunt should this plan go ahead. We will be the ones facing major increases in traffic congestion, noise and air pollution, flood risks, waiting times for doctors, struggle for school places and all the disruption this will cause. And of course, the inevitable increases in council tax coming our way.

Cllr Hodson argues that we will still have 88.5% of green belt left. Does this mean we will lose 11.5%? According to government data that is almost 4,000 hectares, the size of around 5,000 football pitches, of our natural environment gone forever.

We know there is a requirement for additional housing to support population growth, which is already accommodated in the 2027 Local Plan. And we know there is investment required to make improvements to our towns and villages. Yet the new local plan is so far away from providing what could actually benefit the area it's unreal.

There are 25 Labour councillors across 18 wards whose seat is up for election on May 2. It would only take six of those to lose their seat for there to be no overall council control. That could well be the end of the new local plan.

D.G., Skelmersdale.

Returning surplus agricultural land to woodland should be default option

IN reply to the letter from Councillor Gail Hodson (January 23)about the Local Plan proposals.

Climate change threatens our existence. The recent Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) report warned that we must respond urgently to have any hope of stabilising warming at 'safe' levels. Our current Government's response to this report has been so far woefully inadequate.

A number of UK local authorities have already recognised this climate emergency and I would like to see West Lancs Council follow suit. I would encourage other readers to write to the council to request this. Pending central government both acknowledging the climate emergency and reviewing its planning policy guidance in the light of it, I believe the IPCC report should be used where appropriate to resist speculative development encouraged by the Government's now questionable economic growth mantra.

The amount of green belt land under consideration for development in the proposed local plan troubles me most. The IPCC report stresses the carbon absorption benefits of trees and therefore encourages returning land to woodland. West Lancashire is sadly largely devoid of trees. We all accept open fields as 'normal' countryside, when in fact it is an unnatural and ecologically barren landscape. Returning surplus agricultural land to woodland I believe should be the default option, benefiting local wildlife and residents. Strong policies on woodland/tree planting are required in this plan.

My final point on the proposed local plan relates to the time period it covers. If humanity is to survive the climate crisis then we are at the beginning of a major transition in society at all levels. It is a fight that all of us will need to be engaged in to win. Given the enormous uncertainties of this moment I cannot see how we can hope to get things right projecting up to 2050. I do recognise that good work has been done as well as the benefits of longer term planning, but a more cautious review of the existing local plan, introducing recognition of the climate crisis as a new central theme seems to me to be the most sensible course of action for now.

Clearly if we get this wrong we will not be able to revoke it later. We must champion our local area for our children first and foremost, and move forward with care until the path becomes clearer.

Alan Turner, by email.

Remainers in Parliament trying to overturn the will of the people

ON June 23, 2016 the people of the UK voted in a referendum - a 'people's vote' - to leave the EU in a clean break with no ties, a 'no deal Brexit' to take back our sovereignty, our national independence and become an international trading nation once again.

Of the 46.5 million people who were eligible to vote on that day only 16.1 million voted to remain, which represents 35 per cent of the electorate. Convention has it that those who didn't vote, or those who chose not to vote for some reason, have to accept the decision of the majority, as should the group who lost the vote.

Unfortunately a group of fanatical remainers consider that they know what is better for the UK than the 'ordinary people' and they are prepared to do anything to try to disrupt or reverse the outcome of that vote. They would have us believe that Britain would remain a sovereign nation as part of a stable, successful international association. John Major, when he signed the Maastrict Treaty, told us it was a 'tidying up exercise' but actually transferred our sovereignty from London to Brussels. If we remain in the EU we will become a province in a German-led superstate.

Remainers following their own agendas include the Chancellor, Phillip Hammond, MP for Runnymede and Weybridge, where 20,259 voted remain, 45.7 per cent on the day and 34.8 per cent of the constituents. Anna Soubry, Conservative MP for Broxtowe, had 29,672 vote remain which was 45.5 per cent on the day but only 35.5 per cent of the constituents, She couldn't even convince her own constituents to support her view and apparently a number are are trying to get her deselected. Nick Boles, Conservative MP for Grantham and Stamford, had a 61 per cent leave vote. Members in the constituency want him de-selected.

Also, Yvette Cooper, is Labour MP for Normanton, Pontefract and Castleford, which had a 70 per cent leave vote, which makes her attempt to stop a no deal Brexit even more unbelievable.

To quote Edmund Burke: "When ordinary people do nothing the fanatics take over."

PICTURE of the week

Ormskirk's talented impressionist Jon Culshaw takes a moment to reflect on his speech at last Friday's Ormskirk Rotary Club 82nd Charter Anniversary Dinner held at Briar's Hall Hotel.

Call for borough MP to engage in 'meaningful conversation' with public over Brexit impasse

PEOPLE'S Vote West Lancashire concur with Mr Knaggs (Champion, January 9) about the lack of public engagement of our MP Rosie Cooper over Brexit.

After Mrs May's deal was rejected by a majority of 230 MPs we wrote to Rosie Cooper requesting a meeting. We received a brief reply simply re-stating Labour Party policy with no offer to meet us.

People's Vote West Lancashire has over 300 registered supporters and has held street stalls in Ormskirk and Skelmersdale. At these stalls over 200 people have written a postcard to Rosie Cooper supporting a final vote. Most people support a final vote because they didn't have enough information in 2016.

West Lancashire benefits from the EU, for example by research funding at Edge Hill University, by agricultural and horticultural workers and by staffing of our health service.

Informed advice from economists and trade experts to our Government is that a no-deal Brexit will damage our economy by 9% and by 3% for an exit on Mrs May's terms. What are the implications for West Lancs and how many jobs may we lose?

We respect the views of people who voted for Brexit but as a mature democracy we need to know the current will of the people before making an irrevocable decision with profound implications for our economy and our children's opportunities, and not make our decision based on a referendum in 2016 when we voted on fiction not fact.

Within Rosie Cooper's own party there is a spectrum of views and these are changing day-to-day. We are requesting a meaningful conversation with Rosie to understand her views on how to solve the Parliamentary impasse and why we think the public should have the final say.

Kenneth Lamden, Volunteer Team Leader, People's Vote West Lancashire.

So, what is undemocratic about a second referendum?

IT puzzles me why some consider it undemocratic to have a further referendum on Brexit.

A general election was held on May 7, 2015 and another on June 8, 2017, two years and one month apart. I don't recall anyone suggesting that the second was undemocratic.

The EU Referendum was held some two years and seven months ago. Why on earth would it be undemocratic to have another?

David Gordon, Ormskirk.

Thinking of Moving House?

Moving house, re-mortgaging or dealing with the sale of a property when handling a Probate matter can be a stressful process at the best of times. When choosing which solicitor to instruct to deal with the legal aspects of the transaction, you need to be confident that they can handle the matter professionally, efficiently and still provide a personal service.

We have served the local community since the early 1800's and have dealt with a huge variety of property transactions over the years. Our conveyancing team is one of the most experienced in the area. We offer a high quality service and the Conveyancing Department at Dickinson Parker Hill was the first in Ormskirk to be awarded the Conveyancing Quality Scheme and was one of the first firms to be awarded this in the country.

So many conveyancing firms no longer offer the type of service which we believe a quality, professional conveyancing service demands. We pride ourselves on providing a high quality service mixing new technology with old fashioned service and professionalism. Your matter will be handled by an experienced conveyancer, rather than just an automated computer system and you will be able to deal with the conveyancer handling your matter, from start to finish, rather than having your transaction handled by a large impersonal team of file handlers. Our offices are always open during normal office hours and you will receive a warm welcome should you require an appointment.

Our team has a wide range of experience in all aspects of Conveyancing work including, sales, purchases, re-mortgages, new builds, Local Authority Right to Buy schemes, equity release mortgages and we also have experience in shared ownership properties. We can deal with Help to Buy Government Equity Schemes and of course Help to Buy ISA's. We are also able to give advice on Occupiers Consent and Deeds of Guarantee.

Whilst we proudly serve our local area including Ormskirk, Southport and throughout Lancashire and Merseyside, we are also able to deal with conveyancing matters throughout England and Wales.

We can visit you at home if you are unable to call into the office and at the end of the conveyancing process we offer free storage for legal documents such as title deeds, Wills and Powers of Attorney.

We can also provide advice in other areas of law including Family, Wills and Probate, Inheritance and Tax Planning, Lasting Powers of Attorney, Court of Protection matters, Employment, Accidents and Claims and a wide range of Commercial Law for business clients. We are also one of the few firms in the North West to offer the services of a Notary Public.

For further information please contact Kate, Grainne and Rachael who will be more than happy to assist, offer advice and provide a quote.

Lime Street voted nation's favourite railway station

LIVERPOOL Lime Street has been named the UK's favourite railway station in a national survey, receiving an impressive satisfaction rating of 94%.

The twice-yearly National Rail Passenger Survey asked rail commuters for their opinion on the best stations, with Lime Street edging out London's St Pancras (93.6%) and King's Cross (92.9%).

The city centre station has undergone a multi-million pound upgrade as part of the wider Great North Rail Project, an ongoing campaign to improve rail travel across the north.

New platforms have been added and original ones remodelled to accommodate more frequent, longer trains in the future and the station's signalling system has also been improved.

Station manager, Paul Spiers, said: "We've worked incredibly hard to improve facilities, including more seating, better signage and new toilets. "

County police commissioner warns of threat to business posed by cyber criminals

Report by Henry James

Small and medium-sized operations identified as being most at risk

LANCASHIRE'S Police and Crime Commissioner, Clive Grunshaw has warned that small and medium-sized businesses are the most vulnerable to cyber criminals, at an event aimed at helping them to understand the risks and how to prevent becoming victims.

Around 180 people from businesses across the county attended to hear a number of speakers from a range of different backgrounds on helping them stay safe in the modern age of technology.

Online crime is one of the biggest challenges facing policing and small and medium-sized businesses are often targeted as many don't have the correct protections in place or think that criminals only focus on large organisations.

Late last year, the commissioner launched his 'Be Cyber Wise' campaign aimed at helping businesses and the public get a clear view of what the cyber risks are and how to improve their online security, alongside highlighting the importance of reporting all online crimes to Action Fraud, the national reporting centre for fraud and cyber crime.

Mr Grunshaw, who is the National Association of Police and Crime Commissioners' Lead for Fraud and Cyber Crime, said: "Online crime accounts for over half of all crime committed every day and this is set to grow rapidly. Businesses, especially small and medium-sized businesses, are one of the main at risk groups and by highlighting the techniques that online criminals use we can help more people protect themselves and avoid becoming victims.

"Prevention has to be at the forefront of tackling cyber crime and this is the focus of my 'Be Cyber Wise' campaign and a lot of the great work being done here in Lancashire. Cyber volunteers and cyber specials continuing to help people and businesses improve their cyber security across the county, helping those most at risk as people live their lives increasingly online

"By working together in partnership regionally, nationally and internationally, we can stay one step ahead of online criminals in the constantly evolving digital world."

Detective Inspector Andy Horne from Lancashire Constabulary said: "Lancashire Police is committed to tackling all forms of cyber crime, especially where the offenders target the most vulnerable. We focus on 4 Ps - Prevent, Protect, Prepare and Pursue - with much of our work about educating people and enterprises around how they can make themselves more secure.

"The constabulary also supports a network of skilled cyber special volunteers who work tirelessly to provide additional cyber crime resources at the local level, often running digital drop-ins where anyone with questions or concerns can receive face-to-face advice from a skilled digital volunteer."

MP backs call for commitment to tackling climate change

ROSIE Cooper is one of the signatories of a letter to the Prime Minister calling for the UK to commit to ending Britain's contribution to the problem of climate change before 2050.

The West Lancs MP said: "As a country we need to reduce our reliance on fossil fuels and invest and explore alternative, greener, renewable energies to sustain our future.

"Fracking is not the answer to moving away from coal, oil and gas, but instead renewable energies including solar panels, wind farms and hydropower, should be looked at for our longer-term energy security and ensuring such alternatives are installed and constructed with the backing of the local population."

NHS Smokefree Sidelines

The Quit Squad's Smoke Free Sidelines initiative aims to de-normalise smoking around children and young people and specifically those engaged in grassroots sporting activities.

New Quit Squad initiative targets grassroots sport

LANCASHIRE'S dedicated stop smoking service, the Quit Squad, is looking to work with local grassroots sports leagues and clubs to encourage a new initiative – Smoke Free Sidelines.

The aim of the initiative is to de-normalise smoking around children and young people, specifically those engaged in sport and to break the association of smoking with sport.

Gareth Beck from the Quit Squad, a service delivered by Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust and funded by Lancashire County Council, said: "Children and young people have the right to participate in and enjoy physical activity and sport in a clean, smoke-free environment.

"We want leagues and clubs to recognise the significant evidence demonstrating the negative health impacts of tobacco use and exposure to second-hand smoke.

"We believe everyone involved in grassroots sport has a responsibility to set an example with respect to health and wellbeing and help to create healthy, shared community spaces for children and families."

The service also provides free pitch-side resources and would like to hear from leagues and clubs involved in grassroots sports across Lancashire.

For more information contact the Quit Squad on Freephone 0800 328 6297 to discuss how to create a healthier future for the next generation.

People can access the Quit Squad service in their local community by visiting a drop-in clinic (for which no appointments are required) or by attending a one-to-one session.

The Quit Squad also offers sessions in the community and workplace. For further details, telephone 0800 3286297, visit www.quitsquad.nhs.uk, or follow the Quit Squad on Twitter @LancashireCare #QuitSquad.

Public consultation on county council budget proposals

Report by Henry James

Chance to have your say on plans to cut waste centre hours and changes to Break Time and Wellbeing Service

MEMBERS of the public are being invited to have their say on the future of a number of services delivered by Lancashire County Council.

Consultations have been launched into the operating days and times of the council's household waste recycling centres, as well as the provision of the Lancashire Break Time and Lancashire Wellbeing Service.

Proposed changes to the services were outlined last year as part of a package of measures to help reduce an anticipated deficit at the council to £46m by 2022/23.

Councillors at a cabinet meeting in December voted in favour of the measures, which are subject to the approval of full council next month.

A number of the proposals also require a public consultation to be undertaken, with a final decision only being taken when the results are considered by cabinet later in the year.

The consultations, which run until March 25, are the first to be undertaken by the authority as part of this process.

A further consultation into payments given for sleep-in services will also be launched specifically for current providers.

County Councillor Geoff Driver.

Council leader, County Councillor Geoff Driver, said: "Like many other councils across the country the council continues to review how it delivers services given increasing demand and reducing resources.

"These consultations will give people the opportunity to voice their opinions about these services and help us better understand the impact any changes may have.

"We want to hear people's views and the cabinet will consider them very carefully before making a decision.

"For practical and legal reasons, the council has to set and publish its budget before the consultation exercise is concluded but we have the flexibility to make any changes necessary after considering the views expressed in the consultation.

"We remain committed to providing the best services we can to the people of Lancashire and particularly to protecting services for the most vulnerable in our communities."

For more information on the consultations visit www3.lancashire.gov.uk/corporate/consultation/responses.

Travel company defies 'scaremongering' over Brexit to sell £1m of holidays - in one day!

Report by Henry James

THE BOSS of an independent travel firm says his company has defied what he called "all the Brexit scaremongering" to sell a record £1m worth of holidays in just one day.

Don Bircham, managing director of Hays Travel North West, which has bases in Ormskirk, Maghull Southport and Bootle, with plans to open in Formby, said the scare stories were doing nothing to put off a resilient British public from booking their holidays in the sun.

Hays Travel North West has opened 11 new stores over the last year, and claims to be the UK's fastest-growing independent travel firm.

Don added: "We now have a fix on how we are performing, during what is the busiest month of the year for us and hugely important within the industry as a whole.

"It's when some of the best deals and discounts are available and the time when people are really looking to plan something to look forward to. We had a bumper January last year and so I have been astounded with the results for 2019 so far.

Don Bircham of Hays Travel.

"Even if we take out the 11 stores we have opened over the last year, we are still 10 per cent up in terms of passenger numbers and holiday sales which is a fantastic boost.

"We have also just had our busiest sales day in the history of the company. The second Saturday in January is always a key day in the calendar for us and our stores made close to £1m worth of holiday sales in just that one day."

He added: "There has been a lot of Brexit scaremongering, talk of high costs of visas, having to change passports, huge queues at airports and flights being grounded but I just can't see this happening at all.

"I am very pleased to see that the British public are ignoring this too and getting on and booking their holidays with us.

Spending

"Why would people in mainland Europe want to stop the British arriving en masse to enjoy their holidays with them? We have been going there for decades and spending millions of pounds.

"It is absolutely within their best interests that they continue to welcome the British to enjoy their holidays in as smooth a way as possible and that's certainly what we are hearing within the industry, both here and abroad."

Hays Travel North West now has 35 branches across the North West and North Wales and this is expected to rise to 50 within the next 18 months.

Victorian chef gave me food for thought

I CONFESS that I occasionally scan recipe books by celebrity chefs hoping to pick up a few tips to improve my own home cooking. Not so much slavishly to follow their recipes (which usually include things I rarely buy) but to see what they do and adapt it to my more simple ways of working.

And that reminds me of an occasion many years ago now, when my former wife borrowed a 1930s (I think) cook book from the library with astonishing recipes from the Good Old US of A.

The one I liked best was a recipe for squirrel pie - not that I personally have anything against squirrels, though my dog, Tina, has the life pestered out of her by one that resides somewhere at the end of my back garden. This recipe though was like no other I've ever seen. It started: 'First catch your squirrels.' Agreed, you don't see many ready-prepared squirrels in Tesco these days, but that did seem to be going a bit too far!

More recently a friend gave me a pocket recipe book dating from 1852 written by one Charles Elme Francatelli, who was apparently Maitre D and Chief Cook to Her Majesty the Queen. Which should have given him all the qualifications needed for this recipe book, considering its title of A Plain Cookery Book for the Working Classes.

It certainly is an eye-opener in that many of the foods we regard as expensive today were obviously within in the grasp of our Victorian forebears. Oysters for instance were, probably literally, ten a penny. On the other hand, chicken (or fowl as it appears in this book) was something the author hoped might be within our financial grasp at Christmas time.

To be fair, what Mr Francatelli was trying to achieve has a remarkably modern ring to it. In his introduction he writes: "My object in writing this little book is to show you how you may prepare and cook your daily food so as to obtain from it the greatest amount of nourishment at the least possible expense."

It's interesting that the first recipe in the book, for boiled beef, is, quote: "an economical dinner especially where there are many mouths to feed."

Among the other cuts of beef that he suggests are brisket or 'buttock of beef', by which I suppose he means rump, and the total cost, including a selection of veg, works out at 3s 9d in 'old money' (about 67p today). And he reckons you should have enough left over to help out with the next day's dinner with potatoes!

One foodstuff that does puzzle me rather is tripe. I love the stuff. As a kid it was thought of as a cheap meal (though apparently it was on the costly side in Mr F's day). Now it is definitely a bit on the dear side again and rarely available in a supermarket. In this cook book he recommends having it boiled or baked. Personally I grew up to eat it as it comes from the shop, cold, preferably with chips. As a small child, when my brother George and I visited my granny in Ormskirk we always popped into a chippy on Burscough Street and got cold tripe (cut into squares) and chips. Lovely! The chippy's still there but tripe's not on the menu.

In my treasured little Victorian cook book, between the bizarre and sometimes frankly off-putting suggestions, there are still very useful recipes for today - mince pies, rice and bread puddings, and bubble and squeak, for instance.

But baked cod's head? Or how to make the most of your pig (or anyone else's you could lay your hands on) after it has been killed?

Perhaps I should have a go at writing a cook book for single people in our day and age. I have realised for instance that a nice, small, boned joint of pork works out far more cheaply than buying pork chops. And, conversely, ready-cooked fillets of chicken breasts can be far more easy to handle, with less waste, than a ready-cooked whole chicken for one, and the cost is much the same.

Mind you, I have never been Maitre D to Her Majesty and I rather doubt my home-cooked fare would suit her pallet.

School choir joins 'song for peace' performance

MEMBERS of a West Lancs primary school choir added their voices to thousands of other children's in a large scale performance organised to promote peace.

The choir from Bickerstaffe CE Primary School formed a part of the 3,000-strong Liverpool Children's Peace Choir performing at Peace Proms at the M&S Bank Arena in Liverpool.

Joining forces with the choir were internationally acclaimed conductor, Greg Beardsell and the award-winning Cross Border Youth Orchestra of Ireland, to ensure that children, parents, teachers and audience had what the Bickerstaffe school's headteacher, Maggie Teachen said was "an exhilarating and memorable experience."

Ms Teachen said pupils had rehearsed at every opportunity to ensure they were word perfect and that their moves were on-point.

The Peace Proms is a music education resource for primary schools which promotes 'peace through music' and already engages almost 30,000 children from 500 schools throughout the UK, Northern Ireland and Ireland, giving them the opportunity to sing in a large-scale productions with a full symphony youth orchestra.

Bickerstaffe CE Primary School choir.

Ms Teachen added that it had been an "extremely busy" year for her young musical charges, having also recorded We Are All Stars, a Children in Need charity single at Parr Street Studios in Liverpool, and raised £320 for Skelmersdale, Kirkby and Ormskirk foodbanks by their singing in the run-up to Christmas.

The children also found time to sing for the elderly residents of Stockley Crescent, Bickerstaffe.

Last chance to nominate inspiring youngsters for county's PROUD awards

THERE'S still time - just - to nominate inspiring children and young people from Lancashire for an award to recognise their achievements.

The deadline for nominations for Lancashire County Council's PROUD awards has been extended and will now close at 11.59pm on Friday, February 8.

PROUD celebrates the successes and contributions made by children and young people who are currently being looked after, or have previously been looked after.

Achievements in young people's own lives and in helping others will be recognised by the PROUD awards.

Any child or young person up to 25, who is currently looked after or has been previously, can be nominated for an award either individually or as part of a group. A young person can be nominated by someone who worked with them up to 12 months ago - the person making the nomination doesn't necessarily have to be working with them currently.

People can nominate online at www.lancashirechildrenstrust.org.uk/news.

County Councillor Susie Charles.

Young people can be nominated individually or in groups in the following five award categories:

- Positive choices and achievements.
- Responding to the needs of others.
- Outstanding service to the community.
- Unique talent.
- Danny Collins inspiration award.

County Councillor Susie Charles, Lancashire County Council's cabinet member for children, young people and schools, said: "We've had lots of nominations so far, but we think that this is important and we want to make sure that everyone gets the chance.

"If you know a child or young person who you think deserves special recognition, this is your chance to nominate them for an award. Whatever the achievement, whether it's caring for someone, helping out in the community, overcoming personal hardship, volunteering or showing a sporting or artistic talent, please make sure you tell us about it."

All nominees will receive a congratulatory letter and a certificate of recognition.

Young people are also able to nominate staff and volunteers who have made a difference to their lives in the PROUD+ category of the awards.

Any young person who needs help to write their nomination form can speak to a carer or personal advisor, or email PROUDrecognition@lancashire.gov.uk.

Edge Hill student is on course for Aikido world championship bid thanks to scholarship award

A GOLD-standard sports scholarship has helped an Edge Hill University student to pursue her ambition of appearing at a world championship.

Morgan Murphy is in the final year of a Film & Television Production degree, an area she hopes to move into upon completing of her course. And while she hopes to graduate in 2019, she also has her sights set on sporting success this year in the Japanese martial art of Aikido.

The 21-year-old is due to compete at the 12th edition of the world championship in San Diego, USA in July, following some encouraging results.

"I came third in Basic Kata in the European Open Championships in Holland, and third at the British Open in Open Kata.

"I also went to Romania with my coach to help teach a club in Constanta as they wanted to become a part of the Worldwide Sports Aikido Federation. It was a lot of fun and a challenge to teach young students who spoke another language."

And Morgan feels the Edge Hill scholarship, worth £1,000 per academic year plus benefits such as free gym membership, personal training and physiotherapy support, has made her chances of success more likely.

She said: "The scholarship has really helped. I have been able to travel to GB training every month without worry of the cost of getting there. Alongside this I have been able to pay for trips to competitions and seminars across Europe.

"The gym has helped me not to lose confidence, as it's difficult to attend regular Aikido classes. Full access to the gym and a personal trainer has helped me prepare. They encourage me to work hard, which is needed when I am not able to train with my team."

Morgan with co-competitor Rajdeep Shergill at the 2018 European Open Championships in Holland where she won a bronze medal.

The physio support could also prove vital for Morgan, having recently found out she had torn the anterior cruciate ligament in her left knee. Fortunately, it should not rule out her participation in San Diego, with a national competition in Dartford next stop in April.

"The physios have been incredibly helpful allowing me to know how to strengthen my muscles to avoid further injury in upcoming competitions. I will be getting surgery after the world championship, and initially I will be taking a step back from Aikido for a couple of months."

Morgan was selected for a Sport Scholarship (gold) award in 2017, being awarded £1,000 per academic year towards her studies, plus free benefits include annual gym membership on campus, personal training and sport science support tailored to her individual needs.

Reservations now being taken for new homes on former Westec House site

RESERVATIONS are being taken for new homes currently being built in Ormskirk town centre by Cruden Construction on behalf of West Lancs Council.

The Walmsley Drive development on the former Westec House site in Derby Street comprises 19 homes in total made up of three two-bedroom terraced houses; eight two-bedroom semi-detached houses; six three-bedroom semi-detached houses; one three-bedroom detached house and one two-bedroom terraced house available for shared ownership.

Claims of delays in gritting roads denied

LABOUR members of Lancashire County Council say they have been "inundated" with complaints from members of the public about delays to gritting on roads throughout he county, despite warnings of freezing temperatures and snow.

And they claim the problem has been caused by the authority's Conservative administration to cut gritting services by lowering the temperature needed to trigger call-outs in August.

However, a spokesman for the authority refuted the claims and said changes adopted had not led to any delay in making decisions about when the county's roads need to be gritted.

County Councillor John Fillis, deputy leader of the authority's Labour group, said: "Lancashire County Council have decided to lower the road surface temperature intervention level from +1C to +0.5C, cutting the gritting treatments on the highway network this winter.

"They are hoping to save £110k per annum, by reducing the number of network gritting treatments during the winter period to primary and secondary routes.

"Cutting the intervention is predicted to reduce the number of gritting treatments by 894 across Lancashire, based on the intervention levels of +1.0C over the past two winters."

"We told them that cutting gritting deployment would lead to problems, not only of delays in response times but also in the amount of the network that could be gritted especially on secondary routes.

"I and other councillors, have been inundated with calls from residents unable to get down the road and reports of, thankfully so far, only minor accidents.

"At the time of the cuts to gritting we were informed that it would be reviewed if problems occurred. We hope the Conservatives will keep their promise to the people as 894 less gritting rounds are causing major disruptions right across Lancashire."

A spokesman for Lancashire County Council responded: "The adoption of improved technology which predicts more accurately when road temperatures will reach freezing point has not led to any delay in making decisions about when the county's roads need to be gritted.

"A safety margin of 0.5C is still built into the decision-making process and we treated all priority routes ahead of the recent snowfall, and continued with the treatment day and night, just as we would have aimed to do in previous years.

"There has been no change to the policy to only treat second priority routes once the main routes are clear, and all secondary routes in West Lancashire were treated on the morning of Thursday, January 31.

"Our gritting teams have been very busy over the past week, and the gritters which cover routes in West Lancashire as well as nearby areas such as Chorley, have used over 500 tonnes of salt in that time."

Bishop joins in sing-along to mark nursery's official opening

THE Bishop of Burney joined youngsters in a nursery rhyme sing-a-long session to mark the official opening of a West Lancs Nursery.

Although the Little Saints nursery, attached to All Saints CE Primary School in Hesketh Bank, has been up and running for a year, Bishop Philip North was invited to perform the official ceremony which also marked the recent step to full-time nursery provision.

The bishop enjoyed lunch with staff and governors of the school in Shore Road, as well meeting members of the school council and being introduced to the children and parents at the nursery.

And following the official ribbon-cutting he joined the youngsters for renditions of favourites including Humpty Dumpty, Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star and The Grand Old Duke of York before serving tea and announcing: "I love the name Little Saints."

The Bishop was then taken on a tour of the whole school and joined in with collective worship.

Headteacher, Tony Currie, said, "We are blessed to have the bishop open our nursery. Little Saints prepares the children incredibly well for school and gives them an easier transition to reception class. All the children love being a Little Saint!"

He also thanked Mrs Bennett, Miss Pickering and Mrs Grills and said the nursery, which has 23 places, is already "a fun and busy place to be!"

Reverend Dave Dickinson from All Saints Church, who also attended the ceremony, added: "The kids have been magnificent, as always, and that's down to the wonderful partnership of staff, kids, families, supporters, governors and church."

Bishop of Burnley, Philip North, with children at Little Saints Nursery.

Council says sorry over generator diesel fumes blowing into home

Report by Kenny Parker

WEST Lancs Council has apologised to an Ormskirk resident who contacted the Champion after fumes from a contractor's diesel generator prevented him from opening his windows or working on the outside of his home.

Although originally from the town, Mike Thompson only moved back to the house in Carroll Crescent in December after relocating from Herefordshire.

But it was hardly a case of a warm welcome back as he discovered mobile units housing offices to the rear of his home for a construction company working on the nearby Scott Estate along with a diesel generator spewing out fumes.

Initially he wasn't overly concerned after being told that they would be gone before Christmas, only to learn subsequently that the contractor would be around a lot longer.

After failing to make any headway with the local authority's environment health department or the contractor's management, Mr Thompson contacted the Champion and the council agreed to move the offending machine.

He told us: "The diesel generator is barely 30 feet away and it's blowing continuously into my house, I have been trying to do pointing work on the walls outside but I can't.

"It's like having a big lorry parked in your garden revving up with the fumes blowing all the time.

"Also, I can't open the windows and even when I am having a shower I can't open one to let moisture out because the fumes just blow in."

Positive response

A spokesperson for West Lancs Council said: "The council has listened to the concerns of the resident and has apologised for any disturbance or other inconvenience caused.

"Staff arranged with the contractor for the generator and cabins to be removed from the week commencing Monday, January 21. The containers will be replaced with two smaller cabins and a smaller diesel-powered heater, which will be placed away from residents' properties.

"The contractor is working on Carroll Crescent installing new kitchens on more than 90 homes as part of the council's investment programme to continually improve its properties for the benefit of its residents. The works are expected to be completed within the next seven weeks."

Afterwards, Mr Thompson said: "It is acceptable now. I am glad their response was positive. They have brought in new generators, that are smaller and cleaner, and I am quite happy with the response."

How West Lancs and Sefton MPs voted on Brexit amendments

MPS were asked to vote on Tuesday, January 29 on seven amendments drawn up in attemps to change the direction of Brexit.

Report by Henry James

During the vote Prime Minister Theresa May was given a mandate to go back to the EU and renegotiate the withdrawal agreement.

Her withdrawal agreement had been rejected in a historic Commons defeat on January 15, so Mrs May had to return to Parliament for a way forward to be thrashed out.

During the voting on January 29 a majority of MPs voted to support her agreement, but only if there is a renegotiation of the Northern Ireland backstop.

The motion, put forward by Tory Brexiteer Sir Graham Brady, was passed by 317 votes to 301.

However EU leaders have so far said they will not renegotiate the deal Mrs May agreed last year.

A motion put forward by Labour leader Jeremy Corbyn to allow other Brexit options to be discussed to stop leaving the EU without a deal was rejected by 327 against to 296 for.

SNP Westminster leader Ian Blackford's amendment calling for an extension to Article 50 (the deadline for the UK leaving the EU) was rejected (327 against, for 39).

Former Conservative minister Dominic Grieve introduced a motion where MPs would be given six days to come up with alternatives and vote for them. It was rejected (321 against and 301 for).

A motion put forward by Labour MP Yvette Cooper to delay Brexit until December 31, which would mean there was less chance of a no deal Brexit, was rejected (for 298 and against 321).

A motion by another Labour MP, Rachel Reeves, calling for Brexit to be delayed and an extension to Article 50 of two years was rejected (for 290 and against 322).

And a motion put forward by Tory MP Caroline Spelman to reject leaving the EU without a deal was passed (for 318 and against 310). However it is not binding on the Govvernment.

Here's our local MPs voted on the various Brexit amendments:

- Corbyn' amendment

Half of NW households could pay less for faster broadband

HALF the households in the North West could switch to faster broadband and even pay less than what they currently pay for basic broadband, according to new figures revealed by Ofcom.

The revelation comes as the regulatory and competition authority for the telecom industry announces plans to introduce measures to ensure a better deal for broadband customers.

Ofcom date shows more than nine in ten homes and offices can now get superfast broadband, but at 43% less than half have taken it up.

The regulator also found that many people are paying more than they need to. Around four million UK households with old-style, basic broadband have passed their initial deal and could switch to superfast for the same - or less - money than they currently pay.

To help internet users get the best deal, Ofcom has launched Boost Your Broadband, an information campaign to help people find out how they could get more, for less from their broadband. The campaign is backed by Which? and the Government.

A new website, www.BoostYourBroadband.com, aims to demystify the broadband market by allowing people to easily check what type of broadband they can get in their area, while offering impartial advice on how to find the best deal.

Ofcom says it is taking a range of steps to help people get the best deal for their needs. It is proposing that broadband companies – as well as mobile and pay-TV providers – will have to tell customers about their best available deal every year, and when introductory offers are coming to an end.

These measures are alongside others coming into force this year. From March 1 broadband providers must supply better information on broadband speeds when people take out a contract and from April 1 they must automatically pay compensation when things go wrong.

Ofcom is also implementing the Government's universal broadband service, which will give people the right to request decent broadband connection.

TV reflexology expert to run course in village hall

Report by Kenny Parker

A REFLEXOLOGIST and foot reader who has appeared on a number of TV shows, is set to open her own Reflexology School in her home village of Scarisbrick,

Jane Sheehan, who is also the author of three books on the subjects, first got interested in reflexology after she and a friend booked a session believing it was a beauty treatment!

And she was so amazed by the experience that she went on to gain a distinction in reflexology at the Chiltern School of Reflexologists before taking her study further into foot reading.

Reflexology is a system of massage used to relieve tension and treat illness, based on the theory that there are reflex points on the feet, hands, and head linked to every part of the body.

Foot reading, meanwhile, is said to use the shape, colours and other features of the toes and feet to reveal emotions and personality traits.

Reflexology expert Jane Sheehan has appeared on a number of TV shows.

A honorary member of the Association of Reflexologists, Jane has been practicing reflexology since 1999 and has been a finalist in the Federation of Holistic Therapists' Tutor of the Year, as well as appearing on TV shows including This Morning with Philip Schofield and Holly Willoughby, Loose Women and the Strictly Come Dancing spin-off It Takes Two.

At the new school, located at Scarisbrick Village Hall in Smithy Lane, she will be teaching an Association of Reflexologists-recognised course developed in conjunction with Skills for Health, a not-for-profit organisation which aims to support the development of an improved and sustainable healthcare workforce across the UK.

Jane says the course will equip learners with the practical skills, knowledge and understanding to ultimately practice as competent and confident reflexologists.

More details about school can be found at https://www.templeacademyreflexology.co.uk/scarisbrick-l3.

Information evening for potential adopters

LANCASHIRE County Council is once asking people to think about growing their family through adoption.

A special event for people considering adoption will be held at County Hall, on Fishergate in Preston on Tuesday, February 12 between 6 and 7.30pm to help them find out about the process involved.

There's no need to book, can just turn up on the night but early arrival is recommended so that the presentation can start promptly at 6pm. People attending the information evening are also asked to stay for the whole session.

The council is focussing on two different types of adoption, so that more babies and young children can go to live with their permanent family more quickly.

These are:

Best for Baby (concurrent placements) which places babies and young children, aged up to two, with foster carers who may go on to give them a permanent home.

Better Beginnings (the fostering-for-adoption scheme) is for children where there is no realistic prospect of a return to their birth family.

County Councillor Susie Charles, Lancashire's cabinet member for children, young people and schools, said: "What matters to us are your personal qualities, and that you are able to provide a loving home, where you can support and look after a child throughout their childhood and beyond.

The county council is seeking people willing to growing their family through adoption.

"More children in Lancashire are benefiting from being placed with their adoptive families earlier, thanks to these programmes.

"Sometimes babies come into our care at birth or soon after, and they're looked after by foster carers, while we work with their parents to see if they can go home.

"If this isn't possible, the court process can take many months, and after that the baby usually has to move again, to their adoptive parents."

Best for Baby (concurrent placements) place a baby or child straight away with their prospective adopters, who are also approved as foster carers, while the birth family is assessed and the court makes a decision.

Cllr. Charles added: "Best for Baby placements mean that there's some degree of uncertainty for the adopters, because there is always a small chance the child might go home.

"If the adults can take on this uncertainty, the baby will have the chance of a more secure start in life. If they are adopted, they'll have been with their adoptive family for much longer."

Better Beginnings (foster-for-adoption) carers are approved as temporary foster carers, but are prepared to adopt the child - if it is eventually decided that they can't return to their birth family.

Arrangements through the Better Beginnings scheme can give children continuous care in the home that they may settle in permanently, rather than spending months with other foster carers first. They also give the added benefit of allowing them to bond with their new family at an earlier age.

This scheme has been encouraged by the Government over the last few years, across the country, as part of reforms to speed up the adoption process.

To adopt, people must be over 21 and live in Lancashire or close by, whatever their race, gender, sexuality, living arrangements, age or employment status.

Tale loved around world can be seen at Arts Centre

LOVED by children and adults around the world for generations, the classic tale of The Little Prince by Antoine de Saint-Exupéry has been given a fresh and witty new adaptation using Luca Silvestrini's distinctive blend of dance, humour, words and music.

Following its premiere at DanceEast for Christmas 2018, the show will be touring the UK and coming to Edge Hill Arts Centre on February 19 and 20. Audiences will be invited to join the Little Prince as he journeys through a weird and wonderful universe, meeting fascinating characters along the way while learning about the value of friendship and love.

Stranded in the desert where he's crashed his plane, a pilot meets an inquisitive boy who tells him a remarkable story of how he left his own tiny asteroid and journeyed through the universe.

On this journey, the Little Prince comes face to face with the baffling world of grown-ups, from a king who reigns over nothing to a businessman obsessively counting stars, from a mysterious snake to a truly wise and friendly fox. With an original score by Frank Moon, design by Yann Seabra and lighting by Jackie Shemesh, Protein's new show invites audiences to look at the world through one's heart and to reconnect with our inner child.

The cast of four includes Donna Lennard and Andrew Gardiner from previous Protein shows May Contain Food and Border Tales respectively. Joining them are Faith Prendergast and Karl Fagerlund Brekke, who have both previously performed with companies including Russell Maliphant Company and Arthur Pita.

Luca Silvestrini said: "I am really excited to bring to life such a beautiful and important parable. The Little Prince's journey to other asteroids and planet Earth is both magical and transformative and is a relevant example of what should really matter in life."

The Little Prince is coming to the Arts Centre

Formed in 1997 and currently one of the most distinctive voices in British dance theatre, Luca Silvestrini's Protein uses a blend of original choreography, humour and music to entertain and provoke audiences.

The company's idiosyncratic dance theatre is provoked by the everyday and its repertoire includes B for Body, a Place Prize Finalist in 2006, the award-winning LOL (lots of love), May Contain Food and Border Tales which have toured nationally and internationally since their debut, winning acclaim from critics and audiences alike.

Its celebrated outdoor show (In)visible Dancing was seen last year as part of Hull 2017 UK City of Culture, and more recently in August 2018 at Stockton International Riverside Festival.

Protein was awarded the Critic's Circle National Dance Award for Best Independent Dance Company 2011, and was nominated again in 2016.

Protein is Associate Company with People Dancing. Partner with Greenwich Dance, Yorkshire Dance and ARC Stockton. Luca Silvestrini is a Work Place Artist at The Place, London.

I'd love Lord Street as a drag strip

I WOULD love to see the day that Lord Street in Southport – which is almost exactly, give or take a few yards, a mile long – is used as a drag strip.

Before you start hammering the keyboard with an indignant email to The Champion's letters page, expressing your outrage at the sheer stupidity of an elegant shopping thoroughfare being temporarily used for such a low-brow, knuckle-dragging excuse for a weekend's fun, it's worth pointing out that Brighton's been using its seafront for just such a purpose for decades.

What's more, it's been much easier to do this sort of thing legally for about two years, since the Government introduced a law allowing event organisers to temporarily close off public roads and use them for motorsport. At the time it was even championed by David Cameron (remember him?), but very few people have taken advantage of it.

But – if a conversation I had the other day with the organisers of the Ormskirk MotorFest was anything to go by – Aintree Circuit Club could be about to.

It's already proven with its annual visit to Ormskirk that people (roughly 15,000 of them, if official counts are anything to go by) are more than happy to watch E-types and Ferraris doing laps of a one-way system, but now it wants to up the stakes and have a fully-fledged, competitive event where cars will really be able to strut their stuff.

It's not been decided where such an event should take place – although it's likely to be somewhere a bit quieter than Ormskirk's one-way system, for all sorts of logistical reasons – but I reckon a properly managed, safety-assessed bit of driving against the clock would be a great way of putting the North West on the petrolhead map.

Remember I said that very few people have actually used that change in the law? A couple of event organisers down south and over in North Wales have put their own events on rather successfully, but the only comparable example I can think of is the Coventry MotoFest, which used parts of the city's ring road for timed sprints.

From what I gather, it was a big hit, but there's nothing in this part of the world that's comparable. I can see all sorts of applications (and, if you're the shy and sensitive type, I suggest you skip this bit and go straight to the Sports page).

Half Mile Island in Skem would be perfect – would it possible, given sufficient skill and a tuned Nissan 370Z, to drift it in its entirety in front of a mesmerised audience? Or what about Parbold? The Parbold Hill Climb has a lovely ring to it – in yer face, Shelsley Walsh!

Obviously, I fully suspect that anything that does materialise will be at least a little bit more sensible (and fully risk assessed, of course).

But if anyone does have a valid economic case for closing off Lord Street for the afternoon – and a burning desire to find out whether a Nissan GT-R would be quicker than a 911 GT3 RS in a straight line – just tell them that I sent you…

Skem manager Paul McNally

Skem's fight to avoid the drop is put on hold and Linnets face a long break

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

LOCAL football supporters will come unstuck this weekend because both Skelmersdale United and Burscough have been left without a fixture by their respective leagues.

Both teams' games fell victim to icy conditions last weekend so this Saturday's blank fixture means it will be two weeks without a game for fans in West Lancashire.

The two games have already been rearranged, Skelmersdale will now host Clitheroe on Tuesday, February 12, so supporters can satisfy their need for a football fix fairly soon.

However, spare a thought for Burscough fans. Their game from last Saturday at home to Barnoldswick Town has been rearranged for Saturday, March 2, kick off 3pm, but they are still without a game until Tuesday, February 26 when they are scheduled to be away to Irlam.

There is even an element of doubt about the Irlam match as they are still in the FA Vase and it is possible depending on their progress they could have a quarter-final replay that night which would take precedence over the Linnets match.

The gap will mean that Burscough will not have had a game from Saturday, January 26 until the Irlam match, a total of 31 days.

We focused on the Skelmersdale United game at home to Clitheroe last week and the situation in the lower reaches of Evo-Stik Division One West wasn't changed at the weekend because all their rivals in the relegation fight had their games postponed.

The match against Clitheroe is crucial for Skem as on paper they are one of the teams they can catch and hence save their place in the Evo-Stik League.

Skelmersdale's other games for the rest of February are:

Mossley away – Saturday, February 16

Colwyn Bay away- Saturday, February 23.

Linnets chairman says club has a 'bright future at its new stadium'

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

BURSCOUGH chairman Mike Swift says supporters have a lot to be excited about this year as work on their new stadium edges closer.

The Linnets are about to construct a new home ground in the field behind the Crabtree Lane End goal and make a short 150 yard move from Victoria Park.

Club chairman Mike Swift said: "On the field our new manager has settled in and the playing squad are enjoying league success.

"We can't relax, there's some way to go before spring arrives and then the summer break and planning for 2019/20's football campaign.

"Off the field, the landmark decision by West Lancashire Borough Council's Planning Committee provides the way forward for our new permitted stadium and keeps us in the village where our considerable heritage has been earned.

"The residual use plans for Victoria Park, as submitted, have been thoroughly examined, the statutory consultations were quite rightly extensive and all comments are in the public domain along with the professional town planners recommendations to elected members of the council.

"The positive development decision for the future of Victoria Park means that a raft of contracts can move from being in draft with agreed in principle into agreed status with completion dates.

"Construction quotations and estimates will be firmed up into actual cost projections.

"Supporters will have noted the contingency we agreed with the Football Association and North West Counties Football League before this current 2018/19 season commenced.

"We changed the size of the traditional playing surface at Victoria Park and closed a large part of the spectator facilities at Victoria Park to accommodate the previously approved new highway's construction, that will facilitate the resulting civil engineering and new stadium building works. Surveyors ground markings are dotted around our home ground, they were installed in the early part of last year during the key critical early investment work.

Burscough chairman Mike Swift

"The next phases will bring some changes to village life and also bring positive impacts on the football club.

"With the directors and senior management's total support we'll keep any disruption to the minimum.

"As soon as practicable, we will publish for supporters and our neighbours information about key dates.

"Please excuse us while we're building the new sporting facilities and homes in the village."

He added that a special souvenir match day programme is being prepared to commemorate the importance of 2019's milestone dates at Victoria Park.

He said: "This will take a little time to fully draft as I'm particularly concerned about the many people who contributed to the strategic plan going forward and are today sadly no longer with us. Their work will not go unrecorded."

Burscough's successes off the field have been matched by positive results on the pitch.

Before they lost their previous match 4-2 against Irlam, they had enjoyed a seven match unbeaten run which saw them climb the table.

They are currently in ninth place having picked up 40 points from their 27 matches, ensuring fans have been looking up in the league table rather than down with little concerns over a relegation battle for this season.

Edge Hill hockey side battle back to earn draw

EDGE Hill University's women's hockey first team came back to secure a 5-5 draw at Bangor firsts in the battle of the top two in Northern 3A.

All square at the interval, Edge Hill took a 3-1 lead early in the second half before Bangor hit four without reply, with the firsts' late fightback – courtesy of Anna Hollis' second goal and an Anya Lewis strike – providing a huge boost to the side's league title chances.

Em Wymer and Yas King were the other scorers, while goalkeeper Em Ross landed the Player of the Match plaudits. The battling point keeps Edge Hill three points clear at the top of the table with three matches left, the first of which is at their other main title rival, Manchester thirds, next time out.

Meanwhile, it was three home wins from four in netball, with Edge Hill's fourth team recording the biggest victory, defeating UCLan thirds 34-13. The seconds beat Chester seconds 44-25, while the thirds were 35-27 victors over UCLan seconds.

There was also an eye-catching success for the men's table tennis side, who defeated UCLAN firsts 10-6 with badminton specialist Ben Williams enjoying victory on his maiden appearance.

And in badminton Edge Hill men's first team whitewashed Lancaster seconds 8-0, while the seconds enjoyed a 6-2 victory over Manchester thirds.

A Pull-Out-and-Keep Champion Supplement

SPENDING YOUR MONEY LOCALLY CAN HELP TO BREATHE NEW LIFE INTO YOUR COMMUNITY.

Local businesses and organisations have been at the heart of our communities for generations and are the backbone of our economy. They add character and a welcoming personality to our town centres and villages, as well as creating the customer service, personal touch and shopping experience we all want to receive. They bring a much-needed variety and originality to our communities, especially when set against areas dominated by generic stores and companies.

Spending locally means you are supporting your own community in more ways than you think. Many of these support local charities in the heart of the area so buying locally increases the number of local donations. Shopping and investing locally also has a positive effect on the number of jobs in your area.

It has always been a great British tradition, to shop and buy locally, it is where we find innovation and creativity, local entrepreneurs, originality and individuality.

This special supplement focuses on some of your local businesses and organisations...

Double ‘Outstanding’ rating for Lancashire Care Company

Seven years ago in 2012 when Husband and Wife team started up their local home care business, Home Instead Senior Care West Lancashire & Chorley, they had a vision to form a successful, forward thinking and ‘caring’ company that never waivered from the path of putting client users needs first.

Right from the ofset they knew that if they possessed good company values and employed only quality CAREGivers to form teams with the same vision as theirs, they would be on the path to achieving their goals.

The two couldn’t have been more right in their way of thinking. With a top notch business plan and a massive enthusiasm to carry their vision through with pure hard work and determination, here they are today – with a reputation and team to be proud of.

Robert Godson said, “We always strive to employ good people with the same values as ours and as a result we have developed a team that has been the core of our success. We very much value our CAREGivers and their good quality care and support they provide for our clients and their families.”

It was only a few years later when the Care Quality Commission introduced a new Ofsted style inspection regime in 2015 and the company were very proud to be one of the first 3 Adult Social Care services to be judged ‘Outstanding’ for their inspection.

The most recent inspection published in November of 2018 reaffirmed this outstanding care, with the team clearly demonstrating continuous improvement, achieving ‘Outstanding’ in four of the five keyline enquiries, and ‘Good’ in the fifth.

To date only 3.3% of domicilliary care service locations have received the coveted CQC ‘Outstanding’ rating. Within this report the Inspector was extremely happy with the company saying that clients and their families consistently praised the effective care from the CAREGivers and one even said they ‘didn’t think they could improve on a thing.’

Gail & and Robert were praised for their creative approach by developing programmes for days out that integrate clients into the community, therefore combatting social isolation.

Home Instead Senior Care West Lancashire and Chorley currently delivers quality care to 89 people who are living independently in their own homes. They employ a team of 51 CAREGivers who are matched to clients based on shared interests and care visits are of a minimum one hour in duration.

A wealth of knowledge in the jewellery industry

In 2001 Josephs Jewellers of Ormskirk was born. A dream became the reality of two brothers, Joseph and Sean Gibney. Between them, they had a wealth of knowledge in the jewellery industry. Now, almost 18 years on, Josephs of Ormskirk has become a well recognised and established brand within Ormskirk and beyond.

They are renowned for creating bespoke jewellery using their in-house Goldsmith and Computer Aided Design technology. This enables the team at Josephs to consult with their customer and establish a relationship, gaining an insight into their jewellery tastes and desires. This allows Josephs to create a truly unique and individual piece of jewellery.

Family heirlooms and other precious jewellery can also be remodelled to the individual requirements of the customer. Josephs can turn sentimental family heirlooms into modern fashionable day versions, making them more wearable and likely to be passed down to future generations.

Other services include personal consultation, rhodium plating, insurance certification, cleaning and guidance towards what jewellery will best suit you and your personality! They have a stunning and vast choice of engagement and wedding rings, complimented with the purest of hand selected diamonds.

Branded fashion jewellery such as ChloBo, Waterford, Claudia Bradby, sit happily amongst their finer jewellery, offering trend led silver pieces at an affordable price. Additionally, they stock Elliot Brown, Mondaine, and Bering watch brands, offering stylish Men and Women's watches. More recently Josephs have launched their Premium Pre-owned watch brands into store and stock a comprehensive range of Rolex, Tag Heuer, Panerai and Omega to name a few.

If you would like to know more about the services they provide and are perhaps looking to remodel some of your existing jewellery, please call into their studio on Burscough Street, Ormskirk where Sean and his team will be happy to help.

Skelmersdale Is Everyone's Business!

Skelmersdale is a vibrant business location. With a number of major transformational projects coming forth over the next few years it's also West Lancashire's key economic driver. The regeneration of Skelmersdale Town Centre and a proposed new rail station, will be the 'growth game changer' to benefit the area and wider Lancashire/North West economy. Skelmersdale has ambitious plans to grow its population and its business base to ensure the borough is well-placed to attract new inward investment opportunities.

To support Skelmersdale's growth plans the Skelmersdale Ambassadors initiative was launched in 2016, a scheme which unites businesses, organisations and individuals across the area in a powerful network to help develop, promote Skelmersdale, challenge perceptions and raise the profile of the area as a great destination for business.

The Skelmersdale Place Board oversees the role of the Ambassadors and is made up of local business leaders and influencers, whose aim is to ensure 'Skelmersdale's Story' is promoted regionally, nationally and internationally. With the recent and exciting news of the appointment of its new Chair Mark Whitworth CEO of Peel Ports, the Skelmersdale Ambassadors will benefit greatly from Mark's strong leadership qualities and expertise. Mark will work closely with his fellow Place Board members on a strategic action plan for Skelmersdale and, together with their knowledge and connections, deliver an ambitious Place Plan for the town. To underpin this work a programme of high profile business events will be held throughout the year for members to hear first-hand on good news stories, development opportunities and hear from a range of key speakers.

To kick-start 2019 an exclusive evening event is being held on 28th February, bringing together the Place Board and Ambassadors to welcome Mark in his new role as Chair and to celebrate the support from businesses who are already part of this exciting initiative. The event is by invitation only however there is still time for your business to be involved and become a member.

Be part of Skelmersdale's exciting future

Skelmersdale Ambassadors provides an opportunity for every organisation, no matter what size, to be involved

When you become a Skelmersdale Ambassador you will:

Servicing your roofing needs since 1999

Stormspell is a family business, established in 1999 by the Hill family, located at the time in both Maghull and Southport. Since its launch, the company has developed its range of roofing materials, offering a vast choice to the public and trade. In addition to this, the workforce has doubled in size, and taken on much bigger premises across all sites.

Throughout all these developments, Stormspell has remained focussed to their customers' needs, delivering a service second to none throughout the north-west. Their customer base is ever growing and is a huge testament to the company's commitment over the years.

Being a local business, they treat every customer as though they are their first. Sales Manager Gareth Hughes says, "Listening to customers' needs is key for us while holding relevant large stocks and providing first-class competitive service. We get a lot of feedback from our customers saying how unique it is for the owners of the business to be so hands on."

All Stormspell directors believe in being very hands on in the day to day running of the company and can quite often be found taking calls in the sales office, serving on trade counter, loading customers vans in the yard and making customer deliveries showing a real commitment and quality of care towards their customers

The future gets better for both Stormspell and their customers, with a newly developed partnership with Brett Martin Plumbing & Drainage/Liniar.

Manufacturers/suppliers of rainwater guttering, PVC fascia, soffits, and roof lanterns, the Brett Martin partnership will now allow customers to make purchasing job materials a whole lot easier and quicker, giving them more time to focus on the job in hand. Stormspell's size allows them to keep a vast stock of Brett Martin products at both depots.

Stormspell is celebrating 20 years in business this year and has achieved so much during that time. Starting in small premises in Hall Street, Southport to the two large depots in Merseyside, with 3 HGV wagons and 2 pick-up trucks the company really have so much to be proud of.

The secret of the company's success most definitely lies within its customer care ethics – and in this, they excel. Here's to the future, new partnerships, and the next 20 years in business.

Mersey Boroughs Initial Teacher Training

"Train in great schools, learn from amazing teachers"

If you are thinking of a rewarding career in Primary School teaching, then there can't be a better way to start than with Mersey Boroughs ITT Partnership.

Based at St Mary & St Paul's C of E Primary School in Prescot, Liverpool, the partnership is a provider of school based Primary Teacher Training leading to the award of a PGCE with Qualified Teacher Status (QTS).

Mersey Boroughs ITT Partnership was established in 2012 by a group of like-minded schools who felt that training in actual schools provided the best route into the teaching profession.

It's very important that teachers are well equipped with realistic, up to date training for the future and for that reason, the partnership work with exceptional schools across the whole of Merseyside.

Because these schools are of such a high standard, it means that upcoming trainees learn from amazing individuals who are very experienced and exceptional teachers themselves. Being in a face to face learning situation in schools and the programme being constantly evaluated means that the course is relevant for teaching today giving the trainees a good head start

For this reason the training programme provided at Mersey Boroughs ITT Partnership has become a highly valued route into the profession of primary school teaching with a 100% employment record at the end of the course.

Head teachers actively seek to employ from the partnership and feedback has shown that ex trainees' retention rate in the profession is excellent and some are now moving on to senior roles.

Trainees are guaranteed placements in local schools and benefit from individualised pastoral support both during and beyond their training.

Teachers who have been through the programme only have great things to say about their career preparation through the partnership:

"The information and support throughout the whole process from application to attending has been fantastic"

"From previous university experiences MBITT excel in their preparation and organisation. The materials and delivery of sessions is excellent"

A garden centre - with a difference!

If you are looking for somewhere to visit with lots to see all in one place, look no further than Bijou Botanics Garden Centre & Emily's Pantry in Birkdale. Friendly, independent and family run it is a hidden gem right next to the RSPCA on New Cut Lane.

Primarily they are a garden centre - but with a difference. Bijou Botanics (formerly 'The Grainge Garden Centre') re-opened under new management in June 2018 and represents an exciting new chapter for owners Wendy and Martin who have completely refurbished the interior already and have exciting plans for loads of family friendly events over the next few months.

The garden centre offers an extensive range of garden plants, tools, furniture, bird feeders, statues and many other garden features not forgetting the lovely giftware and craft supplies available you can be sure to find something a bit different here.

This extraordinary new garden centre is also home to Card-io, who has served the Paper Craft Market for 16 years. Card-io have become a major player in the Craft Market with regular appearances on the HOCHANDA tv craft channel. Because of their experience in the craft industry, they will soon be offering bespoke products. The aim is to bring the community together by offering workshops & craft lessons with their own brand of innovative stamp designs. You can view brand new stamp designs demonstrated live on the HOCHANDA TV Craft Channel (Freeview 85, Sky 673) on February 26th at 11am and 3pm. Visit card-io.com, find Cardiocrafts on Facebook.

A visit to Emily's Pantry is a must. Offering freshly prepared delicious food, including breakfasts and lunches. Afternoon teas and award winning ice cream are coming soon. Also on offer is Lavazza Coffee, a large range of specialist loose leaf teas and a lovely selection of cakes and hot puddings. They have recently started serving Sunday Roast Dinners with locally sourced meats, all roasted fresh in their kitchen and will also cater for Vegan visitors to create a dining experience that is inclusive to all the family.

You can visit in all weathers as they now have tables and chairs under cover so you can dine outside comfortably even in the unpredictable British weather!

Proposing to expand the scope of the Garden Centre and to make it noticeably different for each successive visit, the team will be expanding the range of products in the coming months. Developing a range of bespoke products that can be personalised for that special person. The intention is to be totally environmentally friendly and introduce a range of sustainable products.

Set in open fields it is a beautiful location to spend the day, a few hours or just a quick visit to enjoy the view and recharge your batteries. You can be sure of a very friendly welcome.

Dogs are welcome in the Alfresco Dining area and the Gardens and the Garden Centre are wheelchair accessible.

How do I find the right size bra?

This is a question so often asked to us at Pandora's Box, and the answer is quite simply you can't! The right 'size' bra just doesn't exist. All bras fit differently because of the difference in shape, fabrics, cut, who made them and what grading they have used (sizing scale).

We don't like to refer to the correct size when fitting women for their bras as this would be misleading. We always say to a woman who has come in to Pandora's Box to be fitted, "Don't worry about the size, it's what fits you that counts." It is not unusual to fit into a few different size bras because of the variants mentioned before. A woman who fits into a 32F in one bra may fit just as well in to a 34E or a 32FF in another, even if it is the same brand. Confused? There's no doubt about it, bra fitting is confusing and bewildering for most women. Often women are mislead by guides on websites and in store, showing women how to 'measure' themselves by adding on inches and subtracting etc. This is impossible and literally only meant as a guide for women first training to fit; it's very basic and quite often can be incorrect.

Our advice to any woman who is struggling to get a comfortable fit, to come and be fitted by one of our trained fitting consultants, and we will take the time to explain everything to you. Always remember that you will need to be 'checked' every 6 months, as bras can loose their support depending on how often you wear them, and you can fluctuate in weight, which will alter the fit of the bra. Always buy a sports bra if you play sports, or do any type of cardio exercise as wearing the wrong bra can cause pain and discomfort and break down the breast tissue if not supported properly.

Finally, if you have a daughter who is developing and she hasn't been professionally fitted, then bring her in. No appointment is needed, but please allow at least 30 minutes for a bra fitting.
